WORKFORCE INNOVATIONS 2004

The nation's premier workforce investment conference will be held in San Antonio, Texas from July 19-21, 2004 at the Henry B. Gonzalez Convention Center.

Sponsored by the United States Department of Labor's Employment and Training Administration and co-sponsored by the National Association of Workforce Boards, the annual Workforce Innovations conference provides attendees with vital knowledge of the latest federal policy developments and funding opportunities, and best workforce investment system practices from across the nation. This year's proposed conference tracks are: Building a Demand-Driven System; Policy, Budget and Legislation; and One-Stop Expectations, Enhancements and Integration.

Over 2,100 workforce investment professionals from across the nation are expected to attend Workforce Innovations 2004. Why? This national conference offers the opportunity to network with America's workforce investment leaders, decision-makers and change agents. Register now to take advantage of the leading-edge plenary sessions, high-impact workshops, and exciting exhibits at this information-packed conference - all of which showcase the best and most innovative ideas shaping the workforce investment arena today.

With critical decisions on workforce investment policy, program, and finances occurring this spring and early this summer, Workforce Innovations 2004 is the conference you must attend to hear the latest developments first-hand!

WORKFORCE INNOVATIONS CONFERENCE PROGRAM

Workforce Innovations 2004 will be an interactive, dynamic conference, delivering practical and realistic demand-driven solutions for today's workforce challenges. At the end of the conference, participants – from business executives and one-stop administrators and operational staff, to Workforce Investment Board leaders and government officials at the federal, state and local levels – will be able to better identify and articulate their community's unique workforce challenges and apply the practical, innovative solutions presented at the conference.

Workforce Innovations 2004 will provide participants with the most up-to-date and relevant solutions – refined and updated until the start of the conference!

The conference's main focus areas will include:

- Identifying, articulating and prioritizing workforce investment challenges and the demand-driven solutions to assist you and your community;
- Linking critical education partners to create a vibrant, strong and seamless workforce investment system for your community;
- Using workforce investment resources to create new jobs and wealth in your community;
- Learning about new federal performance expectations, emerging legislation and regulations, and funding – and helping you to understand what this means for you and your community; and
- Creating opportunities so every person in your community can be gainfully employed, attain new skills and contribute to its overall prosperity.
